

Honora Fleming's Diary

Monday, April 11th 1912

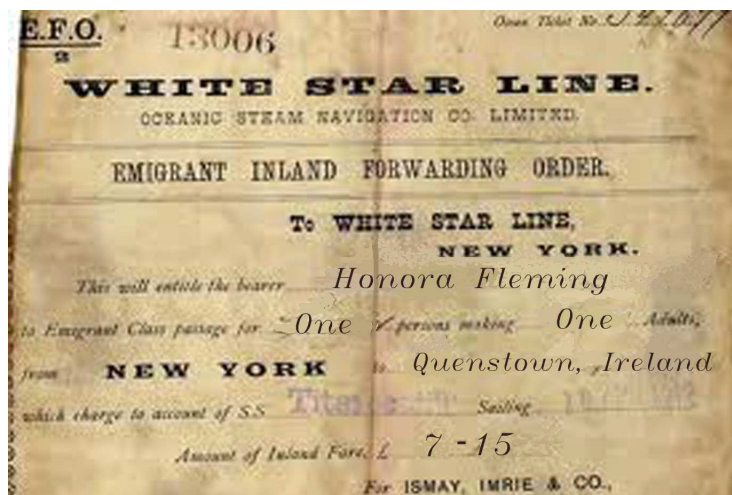

I embarked on the Titanic ! There is only one week before I was with Dylan. I look forward to seeing him. We have to begin a new life where nobody know I'm pregnant without being married. We will marry and have a wonderful life ! I'm so excited !

Many famous people and rich persons doubled and pushed me. But I'm not angry, it's normal, I'm just a poor woman and they are...perfect !

I share my cabin with six children and their parents. They are very kind to me. I know it's impossible to be poorer than me but it's their situation.

I decided to go on the deck to leave them alone.

I put here my ticket to remember every day this trip :

I'm so jealous of famous people ! They look very happy and funny and... I don't know, the life looks perfect for them. But my life also will be fabulous.

I met a man today, a second class passenger : James Bracken. He is only four years older than me ! He isn't like other second class passenger. He's funny and respectful. He helped me to collect my belongings witch fell. We spoke together all afternoon. I think I never laughed like that before.

Maybe he flirted a little with me but I didn't care. I'm not here to fall in love but to join my love. I felt embarrassed when he asked me about my trip on Titanic. I couldn't answer ! Nobody must know my secrets ! He told me his reason : his job.

After, we ate a delicious dinner with classic music. Then I went to my cabin.

I'm tired so I'm going to sleep.

Wednesday, April 13th 1912

I did not sleep well. My cabin is near of the machinery. So there were noises all night...I'm so tired ! But I'm worried because my stomach is bigger than the first day and I'm afraid. What will happen if somebody discover this ? If James discovered this ? I must hide this.

James didn't see anything about my stomach fortunately ! Today, we walked on the deck and saw many dolphins. It was so beautiful ! Then, as I was exhausted, I went into my cabin. I miss Dylan so much !

Tuesday, April 14th 1912

Today it's a very cold day. I think we are near Canada. So we are soon arrive ! But James is ill so I will be alone for three days...That's too bad.

I was bored today. I didn't know what I could do. So I looked at families and I imagined if we would be as happy and beautiful together. I saw the captain also. It's an old man and he looks so kind.

But he wanted to speak only with famous people, so I couldn't speak with him. I felt a li

I heard a big noise, so I jumped. But as I'm near the machinery, It's normal. So I said that I felt a little hurt. But i

I will die...

The ship is sinking ! Many people are running and trying ta save their life. But first ans second classes have priority.

So third class cannot survive. We hit an iceberg. I'm written this for Dylan. I love him and I never stop it. I want him to be happy after my death. He has to start a new life after me. I saw James on a lifeboat. I's cool for him. So Dylan farewell, be happy and never forget I love yo

(Honora died in the shipwreck and she never saw her husband again. He never married again after that. James survived.)
